

EXPLODE BOMBS IN GAMBLING JOINTS

Windows Broken and Property Damaged, But No Lives Were Lost.

CHICAGO, Ill., October 31.—Two bombs were exploded to-night in downtown buildings occupied by gambling clubs. The bombs were the first of a series of thirty-three that have been hurled in gambling establishments within the last two years. No one was injured, but many windows were broken and store stocks were damaged.

The first bomb exploded soon after 6 o'clock in a building at 150 State street, and the other exploded fifteen minutes later in a building near La Salle and Madison streets.

For two years a series of bombs has been exploded in the city. In Chicago, the first of these was in 1907, and it was due to a quarrel between two syndicates of gamblers who operate in violation of the law.

The explosion in State Street to-night shook the heart of the city, and windows in buildings within a radius of a block were broken and a number of buildings were damaged.

The Premier Theatre, a vaudeville house, was filled with people when the bomb was fired. The detonation frightened the audience, and men and women rushed for the street, but no one was injured.

In both cases alarms of fire were sounded, but no fire resulted from the explosions.

No arrests were made.

FOOTBALL CLAIMS ANOTHER VICTIM IN CADET BYRNE

morning broke all hopes were crushed by the announcement that death had come. Then came official action, expressing concretely the sense of personal sorrow felt everywhere. By order of Colonel Scott, cadet activities for the day were directed to be only such as were necessary. There was to be no parade to-night, the flag was lowered to half-mast, and directions were given that all academic duties be suspended to-morrow.

"For Honor of Army."

Young Byrne was only twenty-one years old, but was a veteran of the Army football team and popular with his classmates and officers. He was acting as captain of the eleven yesterday, and he gave his life too early, perhaps, but as his father wished it, struggling on the field for the honor of the army.

Byrne was injured in a mass play on tackle, which had been under way some time previous to the accident. Byrne, standing valiantly as left tackle for the army, was forced under the rush of crimson players, and on falling must have had his head twisted into a position where the weight of the man piling up on him was greater than the strong ligaments of the vertebral column at the back could stand. They snapped with the pressure and the fatal lesion resulted.

When it became known that Byrne was suffering from paralysis of the entire body below the line of the jaw bones, the cadets grasped the similarity between this sad occurrence on the West Point field and the recent injury to Earl Wilson at Annapolis.

Off Byrne died it will kill football for both West Point and Annapolis, was the frequent remark heard on the grounds last night and to-day. With Byrne dead, the feeling prevailed that the existence of football as a sport was imperiled by the government's big schools had been seriously jeopardized.

Byrne was beloved by all at West Point, not only for his football ability, but because of his good fellowship.

ARMY-NAVY GAME

Superintendent of Naval Academy Says Game Will Be Played.

ANNAPOIS, Md., October 31.—When informed of the death of Cadet Eugene A. Byrne, of West Point, to-day, Captain John M. Bowyer, superintendent of the Naval Academy, said:

"So far my opinion as to football is unaltered. I have not arrived at a conclusion as to its continuance at the Naval Academy."

While Captain Bowyer said that he had not discussed this phase of the matter with those on whose judgment he could depend, and intimated that a positive verdict for or against football so soon would be in the nature of a snap judgment, the opinion prevails that notwithstanding the sorrow in both army and naval circles over the striking down of a star player on each team, the sport will go on, and the football teams of the two academies will meet in their annual contest at Franklin field on November 27.

For two weeks, Quarter Back Wilson, of the navy team, has laid at the point of death that is expected almost instantaneously to claim him, and with his death constantly expected, the action which would follow it has been practically settled adversely to the abolition of the game. The flood of telegrams of sympathy, which started after the Navy-Princeton game yesterday when news of Cadet Byrne's injury reached Annapolis, became a deluge with accounts of his death to-day.

Superintendent Bowyer wired the sympathy of the officers and the Wilson at Death's Door.

The condition of Midshipman Wilson, whose injuries are so similar to those that resulted in the death of young Byrne, is about the same to-night as it has been for two weeks. With the exception of the sinking spells, from which he has rallied each time, his father, West D. Wilson, who has been here for nearly two weeks, was joined to-day by his other two sons, L. B. Wilson, of Cincinnati, and Hansford Wilson, of Covington, Ky.

Wilson's injuries, consisting of a fracture of the fifth cervical vertebrae and complete paralysis from the neck down due to pressure on the spinal cord, were received upon the game with Villa Nova two weeks ago yesterday. He dived through two Villa Nova players who were assisting Half Back Kelly in a long and run, and with a hard "flying" tackle stopped the play. He was picked up unconscious and taken to the naval hospital, where he has been ever since. He regained consciousness and ever since has been cheerful, taking an active interest in the football team. He does not realize his condition, but the surgeons confidently expect his injury will ultimately result in death.

SYMPATHY AT VARSITY

Death of Cadet Byrne Shocks University of Virginia.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., October 31.—The news of Cadet Byrne's death, following the receipt of the serious injury of Midshipman Wilson, comes as a great shock to all those interested in football at the University of Virginia, and arouses genuine sympathy, said a member of the academic faculty of the university to-night.

Such tragedies, while most distressing and terrible, cannot altogether be avoided in virile sports. The game of football is no exception and occasionally claims its toll of death.

"These fatal accidents should not stir hysterical denunciation of football, but should lead to continued effort on the part of the rules committee to minimize the inevitable risk. Much has already been accomplished by previous modifications of rules governing the game, and the public may feel that grave thought is always being given to the problem of conserving many virtues resulting from intercollegiate sport and of reducing dangers."

Secretary of War Rejoins.

NEW ORLEANS, La., October 31.—Secretary of War Dickinson expressed his deep regret here to-night at the death of Cadet A. Eugene Byrne at West Point to-day, but declines to make a statement concerning any possible effect the cadet's death might have on football at the military academy.

Another Victim.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., October 31.—Michael Burke, aged twenty-two years, of Shenandoah, Pa., died in a hospital here to-day from injuries received in a football game yesterday.

Runaway Negro.

Considerable comment has been made over the finding of bills in Onslow county by the grand jury against certain citizens and merchants for dealing in cotton futures. The action was reported here some weeks ago, and is about as follows: Certain merchants and farmers in the spring sold to Wilmington and Norfolk dealers cotton for October, November and December delivery, certain amounts of cotton at prices ranging from 10 to 12 and 15 cents, and the amounts varying from fifty to 500 bales. Whether any money was paid in the trade was not given, but at any rate the high price of cotton has made the delivery thus far impossible to the dealer.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

ROANOKE, Va., October 31.—Chief of Police Ragan, of Roanoke, arrived here to-day from Port Russell, Wyo., with J. A. Williamson, who is charged with killing his wife. Williamson declares that he and his father never had any trouble whatever, and the charge is made by his father-in-law, who was never in his house until the day his wife died. The charge is for the murder of his wife, who was killed by a bullet from a pistol in the night.

Call Made by Republicans.

JACKSON, Ky., October 31.—The Lexington troops are expected to arrive in a special train late to-night or early to-morrow.

Judge Adams, on whose application the troops were ordered out, is a Republican nominee for re-election as county judge.

His opponent is Judge D. B. Redwine, of Jackson, one of the attorneys for the defense in the numerous criminal and civil suits against the late Judge James Hargis.

The calling out of troops followed a sign of terror on Friday and Saturday.

From there he goes to Galveston and to Houston to visit his old birthplace. Secretary Nagel took with him the President during the voyage, and the Mississippi River the question of a successor to O. H. Hargis, Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Labor, but no decision was reached in the matter to-night. Mr. Nagel said the matter would have to go over until his return to Washington on November 7.

Substitute for Cotton.

BERLIN, October 31.—Owing to the high price of cotton the German textile experts have been turning their attention to other fibres that might be used as a substitute. Recently a spinning company at Chemnitz has succeeded in spinning the fibre obtained in the seeds of the Rapok, or silk cotton tree of the tropics.

BINGHAM SAYS HE WROTE WHITE SLAVE ARTICLE

Quickly Corrects Himself by Saying He Gave Facts to Turner.

Lecturing yesterday in the Hudson Theatre before the League for Political Education, General Theodore A. Bingham, former Commissioner of Police, said, in answer to a question by a woman in the audience, that he furnished "certain facts" to George Kibbe Turner for the article in McClure's for the white slave traffic in New York. The speaker first said he wrote it, but quickly modified the statement by adding that what he meant was he furnished the facts. Asked by the woman if Turner's story exaggerated the conditions, Bingham replied:

"No. Not in my opinion."

The general made no other reference to the white slave traffic. He quoted from Turner to prove his assertion that conditions in this city are similar to those in Paris at the time of the French Revolution. The white-slave classes, he said, are selfishly lazy as to exercising the franchise. The present campaign, he said, seemed to be without issues beyond those raised by the personality of the candidates. He advocated giving the children in the public schools practical instruction about local government, so as to stimulate their interest in politics from an early age and keep them in touch with the news of the community.

After the lecture Bingham answered many questions put to him by women. He assured one eager inquirer she need have no fear Bingham would reform the town.

"The questioner breathed a deep sigh of relief, and looked triumphantly at another woman beside her, who quickly popped up and inquired, with flashing eyes:

"Is it possible to remove an ignorant political boss like Charles F. Murphy?"

"It is not possible in our form of government, madam," said General Bingham, with a smile. "The people want leaders, you know. They must have them. The name boss has become one of euphorism in connection with the dishonest leaders. Those of decent parties are not called bosses. All those bosses know how to handle men and to gain power. To remove them there is only one remedy: vote for honest men for offices."

The woman looked despairingly at the ceiling.

The only one of the twelve men in the audience, who had a question to ask, wanted to know "the police force is so controlled by politicians that the members connive with them in rascality."

"Yes," said Bingham, who further asserted that the police alone cannot wipe out gambling and disorderly houses, for the reason that the magistrates in the Tammany system will not hold the accused.

The body will lie in state there and the funeral will take place November 4.

CHILD BORN AFTER MOTHER'S DEATH

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., October 31.—After Mrs. May Schneider had committed suicide to-day by drinking carbolic acid, a healthy baby girl was born in the hospital, where the woman had been taken.

Mrs. Schneider, who was eighteen years old, swallowed the poison in the room she occupied with her husband. She was quickly removed to a hospital, where she died shortly after her admission. After a hasty preparation, the physicians performed a Caesarean operation and succeeded in saving the life of the baby.

Roberson is alleged to have shot his victims in cold blood. The last shot was fired at his prostrate father-in-law, who was trying to hide under the bed.

Two Killed in Exchange of Pistol Shots Outside of Wedding.

CONZALES, TEX., October 31.—In a duel following a wedding frolic in the Mexican quarter on the Henry Cardenas street, two men met death early to-day. The victims were Demilio Eroyero, of Gonzales, aged thirty-five, and Marcus Morales, aged twenty.

KETCHUP BLOWS UP PRIEST

WASHINGTON, Pa., October 31.—Four persons were injured, two of them seriously, and considerable property damaged by the explosion of a bottle of ketchup in the rectory of the Russian Catholic Church at Charlestown, Pa., to-day.

A panic followed the explosion, the friends of Rev. J. Sechinsky fearing that he had been the victim of a bomb plot. Father Sechinsky was on the altar, and three guests at lunch when the explosion caused by the fermentation of ketchup in a partially-filled bottle occurred.

The priest was hurled across the room, struck his head on the corner of a door, and lay unconscious for a while.

TEETH GOOD SAVINGS BANK

CHICAGO, October 31.—Teeth are a good savings bank for one's surplus gold if one has the usual quota of teeth and not too much gold.

A jurist has intimated that gold in the teeth could not be seized for a debt, even if the debt was for that particular gold. In other words, once the gold was put in a molar it ceased to be a commodity which, voluntarily or by order of the court, could be used in barter or exchange.

S. B. Douglass, a dentist, alleged that Miss B. Woolf owed him $25.50 for services. Miss Woolf was summoned before Judge Holmes to tell about it. She enumerated for the court several items of assets, the total of which was not appalling, and one item of which was the gold which Dr. Douglass had put in her teeth.

WATKINS JURY OUT THIRTY HOURS

It Is Said That Six Are for Conviction and Six for Acquittal.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., October 31.—After having been out for thirty hours, the Watkins jury at 9:30 to-night had not announced that it had reached a verdict. A mistrial is now regarded as a certainty.

Two ballots were taken without change, the jury still standing six for acquittal and six for conviction, according to a fairly reliable report. Judge Adams sent word to the jury this afternoon that he would keep it together for a week if necessary.

PELLAGRA CONFERENCE

Scientists and Physicians to Discuss Disease at Columbia.

COLUMBIA, S. C., October 31.—Wednesday and Thursday of this week scientists and physicians from many States and from foreign countries will meet here to discuss pellagra, the disease which recently has been found to exist, not only in the South, but in various sections of the North and West.

Originally planned as a conference of the physicians of the State of South Carolina, the meeting was expanded until it includes a national discussion of the causes, spread and prevention of pellagra.

The United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, realizing the importance of the convention, has detailed several representatives to attend the meeting. In addition to the Southern doctors who will read papers, medical men from the North and from Great Britain, India, England, France and Mexico will discuss the disease.

The question of forming a permanent association for the study of pellagra will be brought up at this meeting.

"Responding to this suggestion, Blain, under date of Louisville, March 1, 1885, wrote to D. C. Kent, Dublin, Va.:

"Your power of attorney gave Kent full authority to sell without restriction as to price. That was all you gave him. He never gave you any power of proceeding against him for selling at less than a specified sum, he having full discretion in the premises. He did not get the money under false pretenses, but did deceive you as to the amount he received, which is more than sufficient to satisfy on account of the interest paid."
